Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Take part in the annual worldwide campaign that brings focus to the importance of breast cancer awareness, education and research. This year, consider helping by writing encouragement cards for breast cancer patients. For the women facing this difficult diagnosis, a handwritten note of support can really make a difference.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT FALL HIKING TIPS

There's an exciting sense of anticipation this time of year. School and fall sports have started, and the holidays are just around the corner. The crisp air and changing leaves make it a perfect time to go explore the great outdoors. Here are a few fun ideas for the family:

Leaf Hunt

Take a long walk and gather as many different types of leaves as you can. There are a ton of fun crafts you can do with the kids involving leaves.

Pumpkin Hunt

Hide a bunch of mini pumpkins along a trail, and have the kids find them. You could take them home, and paint or decorate them afterwards.

Fall Scavenger Hunt

Create a checklist of things to find outdoors, like acorns, pinecones, and different colored leaves. When all of the items are checked off the list, enjoy a seasonal treat like apple cider and a donut!

October is National Financial Planning Month

According to National Day Calendar, while it's always better to give than receive, it's smarter to stick to a budget all year long. That's why Financial Planning Month takes a fresh look at our spending habits in October.

Depending on where we are in life, our approach to budgeting changes. However, if we start out saving and planning for our financial future when we're young, the target is easier to make.
